

European Centre for Information Policy and Security® (ECIPS)

OVERVIEW

Due to the authority vested in the European Centre for Information Policy and Security (ECIPS) Decree / Statute and its unique international nature, ECIPS observes the issues confronting Global Security in the 21st century, such as, global threats, security and instability, terrorism and radicalism, cyber threats, human rights, sustainable development, humanitarian emergencies, gender equality, governance, food production, climate change and more.

ECIPS serves as a leading forum for debate on International and EU Security affairs, but its most distinguishing feature lies in its strong in-house "Rural Intelligence®" research capacity by its global Law-enforcement experts, complemented by an extensive network of international partner institutes throughout the world.

MONITOR INTERNATIONAL SECURITY

European Centre for Information Policy and Security (ECIPS) came into being during 2013, following, several international emerging threats such as terrorism, cyber threats and the threat of destabilizing global peace. One of our Missions is to monitor early signs of global risk, both, in the domain of security and justice. It focuses on research and trends of all risk associated with the survival of our social and critical infrastructures of life and its security, providing practical guidance to policy makers and corporations that effects our ways of life and protect our European Identity. The International Information Policy and Security Council (IIPSC) plays a major important role in creating practical solutions in a sustainable Security and Justice environment of the 21st century.

PROMOTE SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS

One of European Centre for Information Policy and Security (ECIPS) main priorities is creation of educational programs and research with international co-operation across Europe to find practical and pragmatic solution to our international tribulations that affects our culture, social rights and economical sustainability across the European Union that will encouraged the improvement of human wellbeing in both, the social economical and political environment of today. The European Centre for Information Policy and Security and its Advisory Council together with its international memberships provides the expertise to such solutions of international sustainable and development in the domain of International security that promotes prosperity and economic opportunity for all. This leads to understanding the future and its responsibility towards the global emerging risks, of tomorrow.

RESEARCH, PRODUCE & PUBLISH SOLUTIONS

The ECIPS foundation is based on educational research and the monitoring of public information, in producing bespoke services and publications, for both our member states and corporations, in all levels of risk management and security to encourage institutional scholars of tomorrow in understanding and evaluations of our global environments within the domain of Security, Justice and Home Affairs (JHA) of today that will affect our ways of life in the future. Research and public educations plays a major key role in the ever evolutionary development of our human life, and needs great attention to build sustainable environments. The European Centre for Information Policy and Security (ECIPS) publishes timely effort produced research with the aim to educate and promote global peace and sustainability at all levels of life.

PROMOTE BASIC EUROPEAN VALUES

ECIPS promotes our basic "European Values" that includes the promotion of European arts, architecture, literature, music and its culture that are the essentials on which our modern fundamental of our free and peaceful democratic society has evolved. The humanistic world-view starts with the thought of giving value to a human being and its thinking ability, and ends with the thought of giving value to all people known as Human Rights. It is a world-view fulfilled with the wish for Liberty, Equality and Fraternity that had developed over several millennia. The result of humanistic, rational, and secular thinking provided the laws of freedom and holds the key to understanding the European Values that builds our constitutional legacy that provides sustainable and renewable trusts to all scholars of education and its research the promote peace and prosperity to our youth of today.

MONITOR EARLY SIGNS OF CHANGES

ECIPS observe and research early global signs of atmospheric and global security changes that will affect our information policy and security age of today. The ECIPS hold conferences, lectures, seminars and fund raising events to promote and sustainability of promotion in the domain of safety, security and justice and encourage public safety awareness programs and coordinated security integrated programs internationally in order to realize this purpose and establish, develop, implement and promote policies with several discussion and decision forums, major events and fact finding missions according to strict autonomous principles and issues publications of all sorts. ECIPS "Rural Intelligence" ®

"Rural Intelligence" ® provides insight into local perspectives, indicates opinion trends, identifies emerging community influencers, measures messaging effectiveness and puts disparate intelligence reports in context. "Rural Intelligence" has been demonstrated to have significant value-add in the current engagement in Afghanistan to intelligence and combat operations, both with Combined Joint Special Operations Task Force elements and conventional Army Intelligence units. In Iraq, the program proved itself to be a valuable asset.

As future areas of interests emerge into the EU policy landscape, early deployment of the ECIPS atmospheric teams can illuminate otherwise unknown issues affecting a population, identify which leaders enjoy popular support and give policy makers and battles-pace owners a more complete, rich picture on which to base planning and decision making.
